

Your Complimentary Invitation

Is Your Medical Response Sufficient?

Join us to learn some best practice advice over breakfast.

When: Thursday 28th June

Time: 8am arrival for an 8.30am start

Location: HFR Solutions CIC purpose-built training facility: Training Centre, Fire Service Headquarters, Summergroves Way, Hull, HU4 7BB

You are warmly invited to join us for a complimentary breakfast seminar and the opportunity to take a look at the impact of medical incidents on your site.

This is a unique chance for you to learn about your organisation's responsibilities, from experts in the field of emergency and medical response, and to take away the best practice techniques and some practical steps for handling on-site medical incidents.

The two-hour session will cover:

- Why should you have a medical response?
- The importance of ensuring health and safety doesn't stop because an accident has occurred
- Implementing a four-tier medical response in your business - from initial to advanced level of response
NB - specific training is available for each level of response.
- Pain relief and clinical governance
- What training and equipment would be required?
- What are your moral obligations and what legislation exists?
- Rescue plans

There will be a live medical scenario as well as a mixture of blended theory and practical learning.

Ask yourself the following questions...

Does your organisation feel your medical response sufficient?

Do you know the potential impact on your business?

Why not ensure that you can answer these questions with the confidence?
